Fault Found, Without Cause.

The last Eugene Review contains an ungenerous and unjustifiable attack upon the Rev. Mr. Rutledge of this city, which we feel it a matter of duty to notice. In the controversy between him and the Rev. Mr. Roberts, upon questions based on the discipline of the Methodist Church, we do not propose to take any part. Each is able to maintain his own side, but when the Review states that Mr. Rutledge, being "anxious to see Pearne in the Senate, if only to pave the way for his own political promotion in good time, is vexed to find that my brother puts obstructions in his own and Pearne's way," it says what we believe is entirely unwarranted. Mr. Rutledge is a faithful and devoted minister: he believes that under certain circumstances, it is right for a clergyman to occupy a civil office—Mr. Roberts entertains contrary opinions. We are bound to believe that both are honest in their views, but it is certainly very unjust to charge Mr. Rutledge with a desire "to pave the way for political promotion," because his opinions do not coincide with those of Mr. Roberts. Such an accusation is no argument, but by its evasion, rather shows that as the positions of Mr. Rutledge are strong, the only way to counteract their effect, is to abuse him, and make the public suppose he has a personal and a selfish object in view. We trust that the Review—which we hope will not, for the sake of gaining a local political end, sacrifice truth and justice—will cheerfully withdraw its accusation, which is as undeserved, as it is unfounded in fact. And while we do not ask for ministers, who are candidates for office, any more charity than for other citizens, we think it right to criticise the conduct of those who oppose them because they are clergymen when a short time ago, these very fault finders never discovered anything wrong, in the same sort of proceeding, if the minister happened to be on their side. The Democratic party has frequently used the clergy for office holders. Four years ago, it put a very worthy Baptist minister on the stump in Clackamas county; his opponents never made his profession a ground of attack: we might name many instances of a similar character. Rev. Mr. Fisher perambulated the State, preaching political sermons, but no Democratic paper ever lisped an objection to his course, and we have a right to conclude that the real ground of opposition is not the calling or employment, but the sentiments. We frankly admit that as a general thing, we prefer to see clergymen following the duties of the sublime office, which they have assumed, but if as citizens, they are required to fill civil stations, let them do so, not because they are clergymen, but because the people want their abilities and their influence in a sphere differing from that to which they have been trained. Every man owes to his country, especially in the day of peril, all his powers of body and mind, and we see no reason why, if patriotism demands that a minister should lay aside his clerical robes to serve the public, he should not do so. We have never observed in any Democratic paper, the slightest suggestion of complaint against Bishop Polk, because he wears the stars of a Major General in the rebel army—why should any one growl, when a faithful and competent minister is put where he can, without stopping his service of the Lord, also serve his country and humanity?

What Next?—In a recent speech in Congress, Cox, of Ohio, brought down the House in derisive shouts, by gravely asserting that "the Democratic party is not, and never was a pro-slavery party." Probably he will soon be ready to deny that Jeff Davis, or Yancey, or Toombs or Mason, or even old Buchanan—the Northern ringleader of the slavery bloodhounds—ever belonged to it. He might as well deny that his party ever existed, for if it has a history, it is written all over with plots and schemes for extending slavery and increasing its power. Slavery and Democracy for the last forty years have been Siamese twins—and the moment that the former, under the influence of civilization and humanity, and the greater growth of the Free States in population, began to wilt and stagger, the latter was divided and fell asunder: it fell to rise no more, until it divests itself of all sympathy with an institution, which has been a libel upon the boasted freedom of the Republic, and an unmitigated curse to the country.

Some Facts Concerning the Rebels.—Col. Streight, one of the Federal officers, who recently escaped from Richmond, has published a statement from which we make these extracts:

The country lying between Richmond and the Potomac is filled with a class of persons who are either trying to escape rebel conscription, or endeavoring to come within our lines. At the same time these persons are daily hunted down by rebel cavalry, who are sent from Richmond with instructions to capture them, and bring them to the seat of the rebel Government. The Colonel passed all the fortifications of Richmond, and states that they are almost entirely unmanned. But two thousand soldiers are located in and around Richmond, and the majority of these are employed in guard duty over Union prisoners. The Home Guard of Richmond numbers between two and three thousand soldiers, but these cannot be depended upon, as more than one half of them are uncompromising Union men.

The treatment of our prisoners at Richmond beggars all description. This assertion Colonel Streight makes without any qualification. Some 15,000 prisoners are now confined in and around Richmond, Belle Island, etc. The entire army of the rebels consists of but 256,000 men on either side of the Mississippi. The hope of the rebels in the success of their cause is based either upon a change in our political Administration, or our failure to place 500,000 men in the field in obedience to the President's last call. The latter act rebels of high rank who have had frequent conversations with Colonel Streight doubt our ability to perform. The material of the South is exhausted. The conscription has proved a failure, and desertions among conscripts occur by the hundred. Three weeks before Colonel Streight left Richmond, six hundred conscripted men were brought into camp near Richmond. The following morning but one hundred and fifty men answered to the roll call. Three of the men came off with the Colonel's party, although they have not yet reached our lines.

Throughout the entire route the escaped prisoners received material aid in the form of provisions and means of escape from the negroes of Virginia.

Slavery.—The Rochester Union, after stating what has been done with regard to slavery, thus indicates the present Democratic position on that subject:

These things all belong to the past. The rebellion followed close upon Lincoln's election. "The rights of the States," "the balance of power," the barriers which protected us in our personal rights and the Southerners in theirs—that to hold slaves being conceded to be among them—are all swept away. For the time being—we know not how much longer—they are all gone; but a wreck remains. It is the proper mission of conservatives of every party designation; it is the duty of every good citizen to endeavor to restore and re-establish the old barriers; but it is not our mission nor our duty to re-establish slavery. It was not our business, nor while the Constitution remained in force, was it our right to destroy or to molest slavery. We have not destroyed it. We are under no obligation, we have no desire to re-establish slavery or to protect the wreck of it from surrounding perils. We have nothing to do with it specifically one way or the other. If it falls it falls not by our fault. We desire the emancipation of the States from rebel thraldom, the restoration of the authority of the Constitution and the re-establishment of the States in harmony therewith. To the States thus restored and not to us, "the Constitution as it is" remits that question. We tried to keep the peace between the two extremes who, in contempt of the Constitution and of the laws of good neighborhood, were determined to make it the cause of contention and bitter strife. We failed. But we done our whole duty in the premises. Accordingly, we owe neither of the extreme parties, as such, any further effort to save them or either of them from the consequences of their own wickedness and folly. That is our position to-day as we understand it.

The Late John E. Boligny.—The recent decease of this gentleman, formerly a Member of Congress from San Francisco, will doubtless recall to the minds of our readers the noble and independent stand taken by him at the time of the secession of the Southern members of Congress. Amid all the scorn and sneers of his late fellow members, he closed his speech with the following words:

When I came here I took the oath to support the Constitution of the United States. What does that mean? Does not the Constitution of the United States mean the Union of the United States? I so understand it; and to that oath I shall adhere firmly to the end. Whenever I am instructed by them to withdraw from Congress, I shall comply with those instructions as soon as they are received. Then, and not until then, I shall resign; and after resigning my position, I shall yet be a Union man, and stand under the flag of the country which gave me birth. [Great applause in the galleries and on the floor.]

The War and Its Results.—The New York Times, in a recent editorial says:

"Saxon tenacity has made the rebellion tenfold more persevering and enduring than an outbreak against such odds would be in most countries; and the consequence is, that when broken, it will be entirely broken—not a vestige will be left of it, not a foothold for second revolution. Every slave will be free; every leader disgraced, or banished, or killed. The South will be utterly impoverished and trampled down.

Moreover, it is the peculiarity of our American nation to know when we must give up. Secession will never be tried in the South a second time."

Gen. Halleck.—As a good thing is seldom said of Gen. Halleck, we transfer to our columns the following from the Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial:

To his utmost conscientiousness in the discharge of his duties, and his warm attachment to the cause of his country, those who have had the best opportunities to know him all bear witness. No General in the loyal army has spent more sleepless nights in watching over the fortunes of our armies, than Gen. Halleck. To impute to him indifference to the public interests, and a disposition to sacrifice it to selfish ambition, is indecent and contemptible. The time will come when the originators of these slanders will feel just as ashamed of their present villification of Gen. Halleck, as they are now of their past denunciations of Gen. Grant.

The Pope.—A gentleman who was last month one of the guests at the Pope's palace, during a presentation, says:

His Holiness spoke freely on the subject of the American struggle, and, without hesitation, admitted that the only hope of the South was entire submission, as that was the only grounds on which the North could receive them. His amiable letter to President Davis was not so satisfactory; but if you remember, he did not particularize the way in which the peace he commended should be attained.

An Irishman tells of a fight in which there was but one whole nose left in the crowd, "and that belonging to the tay kittle!"

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE DAILY OREGONIAN.

LATER FROM THE EAST.

Dates to April 13th.

Washington, April 11.—The Navy Department has received advices of the capture of the steamers Sumter and Hattie Brooks by the Columbia, of the South Atlantic squadron. The Hattie Brooke is a very valuable prize.

The heaviest freshet known for two years occurred on the line of the Orange and Alexandria Railroad on Saturday night. The road is badly damaged at Cameron, four miles from Alexandria, and the water is entirely over the track and bridges at that point. Heavy slides have occurred and deep cuts have been made between Springfield and Beaton's Station. Bull Run bridge washed away at noon yesterday. Broad and Little Run bridges are badly damaged. In consequence of this disaster, no trains run to the Army of the Potomac yesterday, and to-day heavy firing is reported to have been heard in the direction of Bristow Station.

The National Banking bill introduced into the House to-day is the same as that introduced into the Senate.

Advices received to-day state that constant additions are being made to the defences of the rebel Capital. Mines are understood to be ready at certain points.

The resolution for the expulsion of Long of Ohio was debated in the House to-day, but no vote was reached. During the debate, Orth of Indiana called Harris of Maryland a traitor, and said he should be in the Old Capitol prison. Harris retorted by calling Orth a liar.

The report of the Committee on the Conduct of the War, relative to the Florida expedition says that on the 15th of September, Gen. Gilmore addressed Halleck a proposition to send a force to operate in that State, to recover the territory, cut off the rebel source of supplies and increase the number of colored troops. On the 22d Halleck replied authorizing him to undertake such operations as he might deem best. On January 22d, Halleck wrote Gilmore, the matter is left entirely to your judgement and discretion with the means at your command. If it be expected to give an outlet to cotton or open a field for the enlistment of colored troops, the advantages may be sufficient to justify the expense, but simply as a matter of operation, I attach very little importance to such an expedition. Gilmore urged in reply that occupation would afford cotton and a number of other products, and prevent the rebels from obtaining supplies of beef and establish railroad communication, lead to the seizure of St. Mary's railroad, obtain colored recruits and inaugurate measures for a speedy restoration of Florida to the Union.

The only step taken by the President seems to have been the sending of the following:

EXECUTIVE MANSION, WASHINGTON,
January 13, A. D., 1864.

To Maj. Gen. Gilmore:—I understand an effort is being made by some worthy gentleman to reconstruct a loyal state government in Florida, which is in your Department, and it is not unlikely you may be there in person. I have given Hay a commission of Major and sent him to you with some blank books and other blanks to aid in reconstruction. He will explain the manner of using blanks and also my general views on the subject. It is desirable for all to co-operate, but if irreconcilable differences of opinions arise you are master. I wish the thing done in the most speedy way possible; so when done it will be in range of the late proclamation, (147.) The details of the labor will, of course, be done by others, but I shall be greatly obliged if you will give it such supervision as you can find consistent with your more strictly military duties.

(Signed.) A. LINCOLN.

An expedition, numbering six or seven hundred, was placed by Gilmore's order under Seymour, and Rear Admiral Dahlgren furnished them gunboats. Particulars of these operations are given which have been substantially communicated to the press heretofore.

Deserters who left the rebel army on the 5th report unusual activity in the army, with a current rumor of an advance on our lines.

A thorough inspection of Johnston's army took place on the 1st of April.

Rebel newspapers say the report of Sherman's having taken up his headquarters at Nashville is regarded as a blind to conceal Grant's movement on Richmond and enable Thomas to hold Johnston in check.

A Richmond special says the rebel Capitol is being provisioned for a siege.

Huntsville, Ala., April 11.—A caisson of Coggswell's 1st Illinois Battery exploded at the depot this morning, killing six privates and wounding several citizens. The horses attached to the caisson were killed and the depot badly shattered.

Cairo, April 11.—The Little Rock Democrat of April 2d says Price was at Camden on the 28th of March. A Union prisoner who escaped from Shreveport says there are two gunboats there and one iron-clad called the Webb, with no guns on her as they have been taken for the fortifications. The rebel garrison at Monroe numbers 2,600. Quantrell is said to be in North-eastern Louisiana.

Memphis papers of the 9th mention the arrest of a woman near Fort Pillow recently. Several important facts were obtained from her which led to the arrest of several prominent traitors in the vicinity of Fort Pillow.

Newark, N. J., April 12.—The election yesterday show a large Union majority.

New York, April 12.—Report says Bishop McClosky has been appointed Archbishop of New York and Bishop Spaulding Archbishop of Baltimore.

Letters from New Orleans report that the rebel steamer Clinton, formerly a U. S. gun boat, attempted to run the blockade at Sabine Pass on the 21st of March with a cargo of cotton. She got aground and remained immovable, and was burned to prevent her falling into our hands.

A side wheel steamer, with 4,000 stand of arms for the rebels, ran into Port Valasco, after being driven off at Galveston by our fleet.

The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations will hold a special meeting to-morrow to consider the House resolution in regard to Mexican affairs.

New York, April 12.—Fortress Monroe dispatches report that on the 10th an attempt was made to destroy the frigate Minnesota. What appeared to be a floating spar approached her and getting near was ascertained to be a boat, with three men. The lookout warned them off, but they pushed boldly for the frigate, and in a few moments an explosion similar to that of 20 cannon was heard. The vessel shook, the crew tumbled off the hammocks, when confusion subsided. Orders were given to pursue the rebels. The damage done by the torpedo was slight, and has been repaired.

The Herald's Army of the Potomac dispatch says the bridges have been repaired and the trains are running.

Grant left Culpepper Court House and arrived in Washington at 11 o'clock A. M.

Heavy rains still delay the movements of the Army of the Potomac.

Philadelphia, April 12.—A Nashville dispatch to the Enquirer says it is certain, at least, that East Tennessee has been abandoned by the rebels. They have destroyed all the bridges.

Seven of Longstreet's Generals have been court-martialed in consequence of the failure of the campaign.

Gov. Johnson has gone to Knoxville to oppose the separation of Eastern from Western Tennessee.

A part of Beauregard's army and some raw troops have arrived at Dalton, Ga.

Bishop Polk's army is on its way to Dalton.

Florida advices to April the 3d has been received. The steamer Maple Leaf while returning to Jacksonville from Pilatka, struck a rebel torpedo, which exploded tearing off her entire bow. The vessel sunk in ten minutes. Two firemen and two deck hands were drowned. The passengers, sixty in number, were saved.

A reconnoissance on the 30th, from Jacksonville, resulted in a skirmish with the rebel pickets, five miles from town. The enemy retreated.

The steamer Pauline Carroll, from New Orleans on the 5th has arrived. The federal cavalry, 4,000 strong occupied Eagle Pass, 100 miles above Brownsville, which is on the highway of the rebels who have been running cotton and other articles into Mexico. It was the determination of our troops to permanently occupy the place.

The French were marching on Matamoras. A fight had taken place and the French were victorious. The French frigates off the bar were preparing to cross.

Cortinas issued a proclamation ordering all troops to concentrate on the Rio Grande, below Matamoras, to resist the occupation of that place by the French.

Corpus Christi has been re-occupied by our troops, and 300 prisoners taken. An immense quantity of cotton was secured by our troops.

Another fight is reported to have occurred up Red river. Soon after our troops left Alexandria, the rebels under Dick Taylor, attacked our fortifications but were vigorously opposed by the garrison. The fight lasted several hours. No particulars given.

European Intelligence.

Sandy Hook, April 12.—Steamship Virginia, from Liverpool March 29th, and Queenstown 30th, has arrived.

It is said that the Danish Conference will meet at London, April 12th.

Lundsburg, March 28th.—This morning an attack was made on the whole Dippel line by the Prussians, who were repulsed. The Prussian soldiers at last refused to obey the commands of their officers to advance. The fight lasted several hours. 100 were killed and wounded. Four Danish regiments were engaged.

London, March 28.—The Daily News learns that on account of difficulties which have arisen as to the presumptive succession to the Austrian throne, Arch-Duke Maximilian has deferred the acceptance of the Mexican crown. Formal acceptance was to have taken place March 28th.

The Morning Post continues to express the belief in an alleged holy alliance.

The Pope has so far recovered as to participate in Easter ceremonies.

Destruction of the U. S. Corvette Housatonic by a Torpedo.

A correspondent of the Boston Herald, writing on board the U. S. ship Canandaigua, off Charleston, February 18th, says:

It is with profound grief that I chronicle the loss of the United States corvette Housatonic, (one of the blockading squadron off Charleston,) by an infernal torpedo machine. The event took place last evening, one of the coldest of the season. At 8½ o'clock, a long object, just on the edge of the water, was discovered astern of the ship. In an instant the cable was slipped, the alarm sounded, and all hands went to quarters, but before the ship had made any headway, the torpedo exploded under her starboard quarter, making a most frightful report. The propeller was broken off, the stern was torn to pieces, and the ship sunk rapidly in less than eight minutes from the time the torpedo machine was first seen. The vessel sunk in six fathoms of water. As she began to sink the most frightful scenes were witnessed. Men with nothing but their shirts on were seen struggling in the water, officers were trying to get the boats loose, while others were mounting the rigging. Three boats were finally unlashed, and these were sent to rescue those in the water. The gig at once started for the Canandaigua, carrying Captain Pickering, who was badly injured, but is now doing well. As soon as Captain Greene of the Canandaigua got the news he at once hoisted signals of distress, and came to our assistance, and in three hours after the attack on the Housatonic, all hands that were saved were safely transferred to that ship, where they received every attention. Subsequently, a portion of the survivors were transferred to the Wabash.

The Housatonic is a total loss. All hands lost all they possessed—money, clothes, etc. In fact, many of them, including some of the officers, went on board the Canandaigua in a naked state. A sad accident of the disaster is the loss of Ensign Hazelton, of Concord, N. H. Mr. Muzzey, Captain's Clerk; John Williams, Quartermaster, and John Welsh, coal heaver, of Boston, were drowned. The latter had got safely on deck, but ventured back to save $300, which he had in his bag on the berth deck. Poor fellow, he never returned. Theo. Parker (colored) who was on the lookout directly over where the ship was struck, was blown into the air and instantly killed. Capt. Pickering was slightly injured by the explosion. John Goff, the Captain's Steward, was somewhat injured. These were all the casualties. The officers and men of the ship displayed the greatest coolness during the trying scene, and thereby saved many lives. The Housatonic has been the especial spite of the rebels. Three times have they tried to destroy her, and now they have succeeded. It is feared that many others of the vessels on the blockade will follow the fate of the Housatonic. It is well known that the rebels have six or eight more of these infernal machines ready to pounce upon the fleet. The masts of the Housatonic are all that can now be seen of her, and the gale which is now prevailing will do much to complete the wreck of that once noble ship.

Ensign Goodall has been very unfortunate. He was taken from the Housatonic and ordered to the ill-fated Weehawken, in the loss of which he lost all his effects. He was again ordered back to the Housatonic, and now for the second time, has lost all. Ensign Hazelton got into the second boat and had he remained in it would have been saved but as the ship careened over he jumped on board. The last ever seen of him he was floating among the fragments of the wreck, a corpse. First Lieut. Higginson, of Boston, escaped from the state room with nothing but his shirt and drawers on. The Surgeon's steward, and many others who were in bed had barely time to escape in their night clothes. It is a wonder that Capt. Pickering was not instantly killed, as he was directly over where the explosion took place. He escaped, however, with some severe cuts and bruises, and will soon be well again.

At low tide the water is about six feet above the rail of the Housatonic. If the weather moderates her guns and many valuable articles, and the Paymaster's safe will be recovered. She cannot be raised, as her stern is completely blown off, clean to the ward room hatch. She was loaded down with coal and provisions, which will be a total loss. Many of the survivors had quite large sums of money laid away to send home by the next mail. The loss to them is severe. Considerable excitement prevails here, and everything will be done to prevent the destruction of any more of the fleet.

The Albany Journal says that on Monday last, Rev. J. W. Miller, whilst returning from an appointment on the Calapooia, fell and broke his right leg just above the ankle.

He has no means of learning the source of the donation, and will thank parties who make remittances to enable him to give the proper credits. It will however be forwarded at once, and the right acknowledgement made hereafter.

Theatrical.—The good feeling which the public of Portland entertain for Mr. Waldron and his star company, was strongly evinced last night in the reception accorded to him on the occasion of his benefit. The house was crowded nearly as much as it was on Saturday evening—which is saying there was little room to spare.

Arrival of the Ellen.—The schooner Ellen arrived at Abernethy's wharf last evening, with a full cargo of bacon and potatoes, fresh from Tillamook. The schooner came in tow of a steam scow.

The New Regime.—Recorder McCoy and Marshal Hoyt have filed the necessary papers, given the proper bonds, and enter upon the discharge of their official duties to-day. The new Council will meet this evening.

GARDENING.—Silas Wright eloquently and truly said: "the earth is the common mother of us all." The culture of the soil is not only the oldest, but is also one of the noblest and most honorable occupations of man. There is a degree of sturdy independence connected inseparably with it, that has ever made the sturdy yeomanry of a nation regarded as the "bone and sinew" of the country. Even in crowded habitations of the most densely populated cities how often are the irrepressible out-croppings of an affection for culture of the soil, to be found in the neat little plats of ground devoted to trees, shrubbery, miniature green lawns, flower-beds, and gardens for the raising of a few vegetable products. And as [illegible] does such little oases, in the arid monotony of buildings, fences, side-walks, and thronged streets of animals, vehicles and people, gladden the eye of every beholder. Our city is now rapidly approaching a time when such terra-culture will be both ornamental and useful, and by a little outlay of time and labor Portland may be made to "blossom like a rose," and teem with the floral beauties and a fruitful abundance of the vegetable kingdom. The investment will amply repay all who take "stock" in that way, our word for it, and very soon every lot owner in the city may be able to sit under his own vine and fruit (if not fig) tree. The ladies, always in favor of flower gardens, and a thousand other little extras in floral arrangements, are taking the lead in the superintendence of those departments, and seem to be resolved that Portland shall not be outdone by any of her neighbor cities. We are glad to see it.

LAST MEETING.—The last year's board of Councilmen met at the usual hour last evening: Present—Dodge, Knott, Lucas, Monastes, and Zeiber. President Sutton being absent Mr. Zeiber was elected President, pro tem. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Petition of Wm. Harrison, for a liquor license granted. The reports of the Collector and Treasurer were adopted. Bill at Commissioner's bill, less $32, was ordered paid. [Councilman Austin entered and took his seat.] Report of City Collector, relative to delinquent taxes, was received. The following bills were ordered to be paid, and the Council adjourned sine die:

VERY NEAR DOING MISCHIEF.—The Organ for the new Presbyterian Church was in a [illegible] to receive lasting injury, yesterday, and was only saved upon an alarm given by a lady that happened to be passing, where one of the boxes containing it was smoking and [illegible] from a fire that had been mischievously kindled under it, among some old rags, by an urchin of about seven summers. The boxes had been taken to the church door and [illegible], preparatory to being unpacked and the instrument taken into the church, to be placed in its position, when, during the absence of those in charge of the work, the fire was set. The box was charred considerably, but sufficient force arrived to remove it, and the instrument was only saved from [illegible] by a wonder.

A [illegible] COACH.—A four horse coach loaded with passengers and baggage, made its appearance in the city yesterday, hailing from [illegible], California. One of the passengers informed us that they left Yreka on the [illegible], and were bound to go through [illegible], saying that their commission would not possibly make their condition any worse than it was at Yreka. This is the first coach that has arrived from the south this season, the first one of the California Stage Company's line will probably arrive to-

GOING TO SKEDADDLE.—The People's Transportation Company are preparing the little steamer [illegible] for the low water of October and [illegible], when she will be put upon the [illegible] Clackamas rapids and Oregon City. Usually the water is too low for larger boats, about six weeks—the little steamer is said to have done the business amply, heretofore, but with her new boiler and machinery she will undoubtedly "skedaddle" faster.

THE DAILY OREGONIAN.—We would give notice to all whom it concerns, that orders left at our Counting Room for the DAILY, invariably reach the carriers in time for the paper to be delivered the next morning. We make this [illegible] in order to save people the difficulty of hunting up a carrier, as has been the case. Orders left at the office do just as well.

SANITARY FUND.—Mr. Holbrook has received by Wells, Fargo & Co., sixty dollars in currency for the Sanitary Commission. He has no means of learning the source of the [illegible], and will thank parties who make remittances to enable him to give the proper credits. It will however be forwarded at once, and the right acknowledgement made [illegible].

THEATRICAL.—The good feeling which the public of Portland entertain for Mr. Waldron and his star company, was strongly evinced last night in the reception accorded to him on the occasion of his benefit. The house was crowded nearly as much as it was on Saturday evening—which is saying there was little room to spare.

ARRIVAL OF THE ELLEN.—The schooner Ellen arrived at Abernethy's wharf last evening, with a full cargo of bacon and potatoes, fresh from Tillamook. The schooner came in tow of a steam scow.

THE NEW REGIME.—Recorder McCoy and Marshal Hoyt have filed the necessary papers, given the proper bonds, and enter upon the [illegible] of their official duties to-day. The new Council will meet this evening.

GROVER & BAKER'S FAMILY SEWING MACHINE.—Less than 20 years ago the first sewing machine was invented and introduced; yet at the present date this American invention is in extensive use in every civilized country on the globe, and nine-tenths of the clothing worn, especially in the United States and Europe, is made by the sewing machine. As a natural result, every good coin is counterfeited, and imitations are attempted to be made of every saleable invention. But of the scores of machines claiming the patronage of the public, some for one, some for another peculiarity or advantage, the reputation of the Grover & Baker Machine has never suffered in the least. If a tree is judged by its fruits, and a sewing machine, like mankind, by its works, Grover & Baker's will compare favorably with any other in existence, as is plainly indicated by the every where rapidly increasing demand upon the manufacturers' agents. We do not propose to discuss the merits or superiority of different machines, as we have not the space to devote to it; besides, every purchaser should investigate before purchasing; but this we will say, we have seldom, if ever, seen better work done by any other machine, or by hand, either in the way of stitching or embroidery, than the work done upon this machine. It is suggestive, too, of the merits of the Grover & Baker, that it has, up to the present time, taken the first premium at the State Fairs in fourteen of the most important and populous States of the Union, and at every fair at which it was exhibited in 1862. The work made upon the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine has received the first premium at every State Fair in the United States where it has been exhibited to this date.—Chicago Tribune.

A KING OR EMPEROR FOR THE UNITED STATES.—We heard this subject discussed a few evenings since, some favoring and others opposed, as all good Americans ought to be; but all agreed that Heuston, Hastings & Co., of Montgomery street, corner of Sutter, San Francisco, were the Kings and Emperors in their line, for no firm ever yet started in California can possibly vie with them.

WHAT THE BITTERS ARE.

A pure, delightful, Vegetable Balm,
To cheer the spirits and the nerves to calm,
Protect the system from Miasma's bane,

THEIR INGREDIENTS.

Juices of plants, roots, barks, of virtues rare,
By chemic art expressed with patient care,
And the mild spirit of the soundest rye—
Purest of all diffusive stimuli.

RESULTS OF THEIR USE.

Digestion rallies, appetite revives,
The food assimilates, the patient thrives,
Dyspepsia vanishes, with all its throes,
And peaceful sleep succeeds disturbed repose.

EFFECTS ON THE LIVER.

The bilious sufferer, languid, listless, pale,
Physicked for years, perhaps, without avail,
Finds in the BITTERS all he asks or needs,
And lives to smile at doctors and their creeds.

Touching the BITTERS, this grand fact is clear,
Their fame fills all the Western Hemisphere.
Known in all lands, washed by its oceans twain,
HEALTH, HOPE and VIGOR, follow in their train!

AVOID COUNTERFEITS.

HOSTETTER'S BITTERS share the common fate
Of all things good. Impostors imitate.
Of these beware. Discreetly use your eyes,
From honest houses purchase your supplies.

CAUTION!

The Government Endorsement.

In order to guard against the impositions, the public are requested to take especial note of the beautifully engraved proprietary stamp, through which the Government of the United States officially authenticates every bottle of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. The shield thrown by the Government over the proprietors and the public for their joint protection, is placed conspicuously across the cork and over the neck of each bottle, and cannot fail to strike the eye of the most casual observer. Nothing that purports to be HOSTETTER'S BITTERS can be genuine unless the stamp is there.

It is also proper to state that the BITTERS are sold exclusively in glass, and never under any circumstance by the gallon or the barrel. Impostors and imitators are abroad, and the only safeguard the public have against them is to see that the Bitters they buy bear the engraved label and note of hand of Messrs HOSTETTER & SMITH, and the stamp above mentioned.

Our Land beyond the Sea.

When our good God shall give us rest from fighting,
  And send our soldiers singing from the field,
Where the great wrong has found its bloody righting
  From [illegible] that life, but never right would yield

Then, in long peace when sunny plenty hovers
  With sounds of mirth and work, o'er all the land,
There homelike households are, and sly true-lovers,
  And merry children gambol hand in hand

Brailing their sails, the pennoned ships deep-freighted,
  Come gliding through the ranks of anchored hulls,
In stony streets, the roar of trade belated
  Touches almost the marrow ere it lulls;

Over the world to thee shall lowly dwellers
  Look lovingly free land, as fondly we
And at dim hearths and in dark ways the toilers
  Of thy proud fame and thy great hope shall be

History of the Vigilance Committee in Idaho

A correspondent of Denver (C T) News, writing from Virginia City, I T, Jan 17th, gives the details of the work of the vigilantes, detached accounts of which having been heretofore published:

"Ever since my arrival here, the honest inhabitants of this section of country have been considerably excited on account of the doings of certain gentry, yclept "Road agents," otherwise known as highwaymen The individuals in question, had a peculiar habit of riding up to the express coach running between here and Bannack City, presenting double barreled shot guns, making the passengers get out and hold out their hands while they coolly proceeded to rifle their pockets of whatever loose change they might be the possessors of, not neglecting their revolvers, which they, (the highway men) possibly not wishing to do things by halves, invariably took along with them The last coach that was robbed contained, as passengers, Leroy Southmayde and Capt Moore, both from Colorado From the former gentleman they took between $400 and $500 in dust, and from the latter some $20 in greenbacks and about $100 in dust that he was taking to Bannack for a friend So bold had they become, and thinking that success most invariably secure safety, that they summarily introduced themselves into a couple of cabins that were in an isolated place near the mouth of this gulch, and saluted the astonished occupants with the only expression that is applicable on such occasions—"your money or your life?" They did not get in a very big haul here—$1,50 and $0,75 being the respective sums, I understand. But their race was nearly run, and their hands about played out" As the incidents that led to the final breaking up of the band illustrates in a remarkable manner the truth of the old adage that 'murder will out" I relate it as briefly and concisely as I can

A German named Nicholas Delwalter, from California Gulch, Colorado Territory, was sent by his employer, whose name is Clark [illegible] from the same place, Bob [illegible], for a span of mules; not returning as soon as he was expected, and having [illegible] 50 in his possession, various surmises were hazarded in regard to his turning up [illegible] of them being satisfactory, Mr Clark started over to Dempsey's ranch on Stinkingwater to try and glean some tidings of the missing man All that he [illegible] was that the man had [illegible] the mules His character for honesty and probity having been above reproach things were to say the least, wearing a very [illegible] aspect A short time after Mr Clark's visit Frank Palmer, lately from [illegible] was hunting down on the Stinkingwater and [illegible] a prairie chick [illegible] flew [illegible] in some willows that line the banks of the stream Pursuing the wounded bird judge of his surprise when at the edge of the willows he stumbled over the body of the missing Dewalter, Palmer brought the body to Nevada City and a posse of citizens went after the two herders who had charge of the stock and who lived in a "wickey" This "wickey" (the orthography of which may be incorrect) is situated some [illegible] from the ranch building proper occupied by Mr Dempsey and family The posse of citizens went down and succeeded in arresting John French (who turned State's evidence) George Hilderman, Whisky Bill [illegible] Texas, a man named Bob, Geo Ives and Alex Carter On their arrival at Nevada City a miners meeting was called, composed of Junction City and Nevada districts presided over by the judges of the two districts a committee of twelve from each district was chosen as a jury to try Geo Ives on the testimony of John French, (more familiarly known as Long John,") who had turned State's evidence. The balance of the party with the exception of Hilderman were released—an action which the citizens have regretted ever since The trial lasted two days It was held in the open air, whisky was prohibited from being sold in the town and everything, so far as could be, under the circumstances, was conducted in an orderly and decorous manner

Things had progressed slowly during the first day of the trial and for a good part of the second the jury were getting tired of [illegible] counsel for the defense, and were looking rather dismal, indeed, under the circumstances, and probably to prevent any of these vexatious delays, the committee [illegible] the court that as soon as the evidence was in, the lawyers, both for the prosecution and defense, must restrict themselves to one hour each This resolution was carried by the miners present, and became a rule of court After the speeches for and against the prisoners, together with a review of the evidence, had been gone through with, occupying some four hours, and a short charge by the judge, the jury retired for a short time and brought in a verdict of guilty — for hanging and 1 for acquittal

There was considerable excitement among the outsiders upon the rendering of the verdict Various motions were made for time for the prisoner to prepare himself A motion was at length made and carried, that the prisoner have half an hour to prepare himself before being launched into eternity During these proceedings, the day waned and night came on The moon rose in her majesty, and by her pale, sad light, the sheriff and his assistants proceeded to erect the gallows

It was quite a primitive structure A hewn log, the end of which was placed over the beam of an unfinished house, a rope hitched to the end of the timber, with a noose at the end of it, with a box under the rope for the condemned to stand upon, completed the arrangements The half hour being up, the prisoner was led out, strongly guarded. He made a remark from a wagon, which had been used as the "bench" by the judges He said that he was innocent of the crime, (that of killing Delwater) but that Alex Carter was the man that did kill him, that "Long John" had sworn falsely and that as he was going to die, he wished that his friends would bury him decently He was then led on the box Here the scene beggars description The swaying of the masses to and fro, the angry exclamations of the friends of the prisoner, and the drawing of pistols by both parties, all tended to make the scene seem more like some hideous phantasy or dream than a reality In the midst of the excitement the drop, or box was jerked out from under the prisoner, and all that remained of Geo Ives was soon a dangling mass of insanity.

After this event, a Vigilance Committee was formed, and the effectual manner in which they are doing their work is an earnest that they will leave no stone unturned to rid this country of one of the vilest bands that has ever infested any locality Scouting parties patrol the country in all directions, and whenever they find one of the 'affidavits' a short shrift and a rope's end soon makes short work of him

On last Thursday, five individuals were swung from the beam of an unoccupied house in Virginia City They were taken from various places, marched up and confronted with the judges, told what they were accused of, and the penalty attached thereto and then given to understand to prepare for a long journey

The names of the above mentioned five men, were, Jack Gallagher, formerly of Denver, and of some notoriety in that place, —Boone Helm, an individual who went into Salt Lake, in 1856, eating the leg of a man, George Lane, or "Club foot George," Asa Lyons, from Leavenworth

In addition to the above, the following named persons were hung at different places Henry Plummer, Sheriff of Bannack and Virginia cities and captain of the band Buck Stinson, Ned Ray John Waggoner a German, "Red' and a Mexican whose name is unknown

The Mexican was executed in Bannack, and had rather a hard time of it He entrenched himself in a log cabin, killed one man (Copely) and wounded another The "vigys" being unable to get him out had recourse to a cannon, and fired two shells into the building, the last of which exploded therein, wounding him mortally They then took him out and hung him After he was hung, they pulled the building down piled it up, set it on fire and threw the body on the burning mass

There are others that the "vigys" are out after, among them, Alex Carter, "Whisky Bill" and "Bob," and take it altogether there are pretty lively times here and in this vicinity just at present

I will defer until my next, and mention of the mines, the people, the prospects, and the markets, and will briefly close by saying that the severity of the weather has caused nearly all mining to be suspended

A New Sensation —The Seattle Gazette says

"A spark of eastern intelligence has lately dropped down among the dry bones of Seattle humanity like a brand of wild fire in a field of stubble It is to the effect that a choice selection of fifty young ladies, from the Eastern States, actually left New York in March last, bound for Seattle and vicinity Fifty unmarried and marriageable ladies, girls, female women—and this is leap year, too! ye gods! what has bachelordom done to to incur this stupendous blessing! Coal is nowhere! coal has declined, and calico is coming up "Coal on the brain" has subsided, and woman on the heart rages The news has given a fresh impetus to various branches of business in the community Large deputations from uncongenial logging camps and up-river ranches have arrived in town, to learn more of the vague but exciting report which had reached their neighborhoods, and when the rumor and their hopes were confirmed, the spirits of men went up, and the spirits of rye went down to the profit of dealers in spirits generally Kellogg & Bro, have driven a brisk trade in hair dye, in consequence, Coombs, Horton, Hinds and Plummer, have doubled their sales of dry goods and clothing, Yesler, Denny & Co's mill, though running night and day, is unable to fill orders for building material, family flour has risen four dollars on the barrel, cooking stoves and baby-linen are much elevated, and the demand for cradles was never greater in the biggest gold excitement in California

It is said these fifty packages of dimity are composed of the best material, trim built and in the prime of life, none of them having yet reached the age beyonds which a lady never gets They are all pretty, of course, for all women are pretty We never saw a respectable woman that wasn't pretty It is a wise provision of nature that all good women are lovely, loving and lovable, and also when they become wives, each man's wife is prettier than every other man's wife Our public spirited bachelors are already deeply in love with their own conceptions of the coming virgins, and have engaged the whole cargo, to be delivered as soon as they arrive"

Rough Sport of Angry Miners — The Territorial Enterprise, (Virginia City,) of the 22d of March, says

There was considerable excitement among the workmen of the Uncle Sam mine a morning or two ago, caused by some action on the part of a new foreman, which the workmen considered inimical to their rights, but principally because they believe him to have been instrumental in having their wages reduced from $4 to $3 50 per day Instead of venting their resentment in a manner that would inflict bodily injury on their obnoxious foreman, they chose a milder, and perhaps much more efficacious plan He was foreman of the first shift, which comes at seven o'clock in the morning, and as soon as the men got him into the lower galleries of the mine, they seized him, and with ropes bound him hand and foot, winding such a coil of rope about him that he looked like an Egyptian mummy. After this operation was satisfactorily concluded, they bore him to the main extraction shaft, and passing the great hoisting cable about his body, lashed him fast to it—first fixing upon him the following label "Dump this pile of waste dirt from Cornwall" They now made the signal to the engineer above to "hoist," and away up the shaft, like a witch on a broomstick, darted the foreman When he had sailed upward some fifty or sixty feet, the signal bell above was struck telling the brakesman to "lower." There was of course no other way for the brakesman, so he "lowered," and down came the foreman to the bottom of the shaft Again the signal was struck on the bell above—"hoist," and away sailed the frightened foreman up the shaft "Lower!" tapped the bell, and the brakesman, although it appeared to him that there were queer doings below could only obey orders and lower "Hoist!" and the order was again instantly obeyed, the brakesman beginning to imagine that the devil was below The engine puffed and the huge cable rattled through the great friction pulleys, when all at once up popped the mummified foreman, dangling at the cabel's end like some gnome of the mine fished up from the vast deep of the dark lower galleries.

Precepts in Rhyme —The Shylock, who, with head erect, with honest people mingles, should cease to shave his fellow men, and go to shaving shingles

The lawyer would be better off, his conscience far less pliant, who owned a little farm in fee, and made that farm his client

We have some doctors in our midst, whose talents they should use by practicing the healing art—heeling boots and shoes

The minister whose sage advice a useful moral teaches, should mind and watch as well as pray, and practice what he preaches
